BUSH GAITERS

Modern, low-cut walking boots call for a gaiter design that won't compromise your freedom to move. Whether you're rock hopping down a boulder-strewn creek bed, scree running in the mountains or slogging uphill over rough ground WE Bush Gaiters, with their long canvas legs and squat, heavy-duty lower construction, are a perfect choice. The tightly-woven corespun canvas fabric combines puncture resistance, waterproofness and moisture vapour permeability at levels not possible with even the most high-tech laminated fabrics. A short stiffener in the front-opening construction adds impact protection in the shin area and supports the free-standing of the canvas legs. These gaiters can be worn with the top left open greatly improving their comfort in hot weather. In 2011 we have further improved durability with revised seam construction and a closed-cell foam layer in the base construction.
