KARIJINI

The classic bushwalking expedition model. Multi-week bushwalks in places like south-west Tasmania make demands of a backpack mostly ignored now by designers. This big, single-compartment canvas pack is a proven performer. The external pockets, removable compression straps and bum-bag-convertible top cover add welcome convenience and versatility. The wide-mouth throat and big top cover design are rarely seen these days but you need look no further than the profile of a traditional Himalayan porter's basket to sense the benefits in both natural carry posture and ease of use: Adding the extra volume at the top of this big pack reduces backward drag on the shoulders. Fully fitted with our sophisticated Synchro-FORM harness system, the Karijini works with your body to carry the heaviest loads with comfort.
